To whom it may concern,

My name is Jackson Rosch, I am an Indigenous teacher candidate currently enrolled at Thompson Rivers University completing the Bachelors of Education program, which I will be graduating from this June (2023).

I am beyond excited to start working within the education system, where I will learn to be a quality teacher. Over the past two years I have developed many skills related to classroom/behavior management, leadership, and critical thinking. I believe that my background and experience during my life and education have prepared me to be well diversified and qualified TTOC.

I gained an undergraduate degree in History and English prior to enrolling in the education program. I believe that education is critical for each and every individual and I strive to deliver the best teaching experience. I believe in making a significant contribution to society and my love for education is a perfect match for becoming a teacher.

My two strongest beliefs are inclusive and Indigenous education, while focusing on building numeracy and literacy skills. I look forward to gaining experience anywhere I go, as well as building my teaching abilities, which will help me become an influential figure within the education system.

Sincerely,

Jackson Rosch
